

Teaching Books

Description

TeachingBooks.net (K - 12) is an online database that students, and families can use to explore children's books, young adult literature, and their authors. The database provides access to educational materials and programs (short movies, audio book readings, book discussion guides) that add multimedia to reading at home.

This Subscription is available to Enrolled, Flex and Registered families.

For Children and Teens

- Meet authors and illustrators with exclusive movies and recordings
- Experience thousands of read-along audiobook performances
- Hear authors pronounce and tell the stories of their names
- Enjoy almost 2,000 complete book recordings
- Explore book trailers, Meet-the-Author recordings, and more
- Support assignments about books and author studies
- Find the right book for you (Reader's Advisory)

The TeachingBooks.net database is used in home settings. Virtual author recordings are available so students can learn from professional writers via the audio and video resources on the site. Movies of Caldecott-winning illustrators demonstrate art processes. Audio excerpts are used by students, including English language learners, to independently learn the rhythm, pace, and sound of the books they are reading. Users can also listen to poets read their work, get information for author/illustrator studies, and find book guides for fiction and non-fiction titles.
